

The First School Newspaper of Lyceum No. 165!

■ The First School Newspaper of Lyceum No. 165! ■

Guys, we've got big news — we're launching our very own school newspaper! ■

From now on, Lyceum No. 165 will have its own publication where you can not only read interesting articles but also become part of the writing team.

In our newspaper, you will find:

■ fascinating materials on scientific topics — from space and technology to biology and medicine;

■ research projects by students that show how exciting and meaningful science can be, even at school;

■ discussions of global issues — ecology, climate change, social development, and how we, even as students, can influence the future;

■ stories about volunteer projects — both within our lyceum and in interschool initiatives, where students help people, animals, and the environment.

The newspaper is not just about news. It's a place where we can share our thoughts, dreams, ideas, and achievements.

Each issue will be special, because it is created for you and together with you.

We believe our newspaper will become the voice of our lyceum, bring students with different interests together, and give everyone a chance to express themselves.

If you want to write an article, share your achievements, or suggest a topic — join us! After all, this newspaper belongs to all of us.

So stay tuned for new issues, read, discuss, and get inspired. ■

Lyceum No. 165 is starting a brand-new chapter!
